New Hill Defense Line Against The Reds

Consider Blockade of Red China Coast If UN Forces Driven Out

Prospects That Red China Accept Cease Fire Plan Seem Remote

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee today were reported seriously considering a blockade of the Red China coast if United Nations troops are long beleaguered or are driven out of Korea.

The proposal was described by diplomatic informants as one of several ways considered for dealing with the Chinese Communist aggression, depending on what actually happens in the Korean fighting.

Negotiation of a settlement is another possible way and the President and Prime Minister are ready to consider any Chinese peace move provided it does not involve "appeasement."

In general, it appears that Mr. Truman and his advisers are taking a much tougher line than Attlee on the Far East, both as to possible negotiations or as to putting direct pressure on the Chinese Reds outside Korea.

Informed officials said that Secretary of State Acheson put forward the blockade proposal at the secret Truman-Attlee meetings which are now in the fourth day.

Attlee was described as cold to the suggestion but willing to discuss it. Informants said it probably would come up again this afternoon, or tomorrow, as part of a new general look at the Far Eastern situation.

Little Hope Voiced

What Attlee clearly would like to get agreement on here—but what he apparently has little or no hope of obtaining—is a course of Anglo-American action aimed at bringing the Far Eastern crisis to a close at the earliest possible moment and by broad scale negotiation with the Chinese Reds if necessary.

President Truman is understood to have made emphatically clear to the British leader that the United States will have no part of (1) any "appeasement," which Attlee himself has rejected, or (2) of any Korean settlement which involves bargaining on outside, non-Korean issues—for example Red China's desire for United Nations membership and for control over the Chinese Nationalist-held island of Formosa.

The British, however, feel that if a Korean settlement is at all possible it will involve hard bargaining probably should be undertaken of necessary to a settlement.

Aides of Attlee represent him as being generally opposed to the idea of carrying on a "half-war" against the Chinese Reds indefinitely.

Apparently his view is that if UN forces are expelled from Korea the Western powers should wind up the Far Eastern confliet as rapidly as possible and concentrate all of their efforts on Western Europe.

Attlee's ideas as to what would be a reasonable proposal for a settlement presumably were sought at a forenoon conference he had with Madame Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, the Indian ambassador.

They talked for about 30 minutes at the British embassy. Reporters were told they discussed Korea and the possibility of a

Let Senators Make Decision

GOP Leaders to Put to Them Move On Acheson

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Republican senate leaders decided today to let all GOP senators pass upon a formal request "for the resignation or replacement of secretary of state Acheson."

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman, told reporters this was the decision of the senate GOP committee.

Taft said the 11-member policy committee, after an hour and a half closed-door session, took no direct action itself.

Instead it agreed to call a conference of all 43 Republican senators early next week, probably Tuesday, for a discussion of the oust-Acheson move as well as the broader subject of foreign and military policies.

Even if the Republican senators agreed to back the demand, there is no assurance it would be met. President Truman has said repeatedly he has no intention of letting Acheson go.

Taft appointed a subcommittee to go over the wording of a replace-Acheson resolution sponsored by Senator Ives (R-NY).

Members include Ives, Republican Wherry of Nebraska, Senator Millikin of Colorado, chairman of the Republican conference, and Senator H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey, a member of the foreign relations committee.

Asked whether there had been opposition to the move against Acheseon, Taft said there had been "some discussion both ways."

He indicated that all Republicans present favored replacement of the secretary of state even though some questioned the idea of trying to make this a Republican policy issue.

Taft told newsmen he wanted to stress that the conference would not be limited to the Ives-Acheson matter but also would cover "all phases of the foreign and military situation which presents such a threat to the security of our country."

By the time the conference is held, Taft said, details of the meetings between President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee of Great Britain should have been completed and some information made public.

Little Dog With Puppies Adopts an Orphan Kitten

Dot, who belongs to Alta Lou Garrett of Windsor, Mo., is a little dog with a nice big family of puppies but when she saw a little orphan kitten that didn't have anybody to take care of it she decided she could feed and care for one more little baby, so she adopted the tiny stray kitten as her own.

When the puppies nurse so does the little kitten and Dot keeps a watchful eye on her just as she does her own small pups.

Attack Starting World War II Was Just Nine Years Ago

By Joseph C. Goodwin

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Nine years ago today a Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor catapulted this nation into World War II.

The impact of the disaster of that Sunday afternoon — Dec. 7, 1941 — stirred the United States to a mighty effort which brought a victory. And it heralded for America a new role of world leadership in the cause of freedom.

When the victory finally came, a tired and chastened world looked eagerly for a path to permanent peace. As a stepping stone, it set up the United Nations.

It's just nine years since Pearl Harbor. Where has the path led?

In the Korean icebox, hundreds of thousands carrying the U. N. banner are fighting for their lives against hordes of Chinese Communists, in Indochina and Malaya man kills man for power or freedom.

Wars and rumors of war have not died.

And in America and elsewhere around the world, leaders gather

Navy Prepares To Evacuate If Necessary

By Drew Pearson

The joints chiefs of staff have grimly warned President Truman that our troops cannot hold Korea against the swarming anthill of Chinese Communists, and, as a result, that the navy is now perparing to evacuate our ground forces from the Korean peninsula, Dunkerque style.

These are some of the unpleasant facts placed before leaders of congress in late-night sessions with administration representatives.

A double-Dunkerque may in fact be necessary to pull out the Tenth Corps from the east coast and the Eight Army from the west coast.

It is no longer a secret that our main worry is that the Russians might choose this moment to start World War III by striking at our evacuating army by air and submarine. The Russians, with 1,000,000 troops in Siberia, plus 4,500 airplanes at Siberian bases, plus about 60 submarines in Siberian waters are full aware of the fact that it would be possible for them to try to sink the bulk of our army, just as the Japanese sank our navy at Pearl Harbor.

All this doesn't mean that our troops have been hopelesly routed. Several trapped regiments have been chewed to bits, and the casualty figures will stun the nation. However, the bulk of the tenth corps and eight army are still intact. In fact, the joint chiefs believe they could keep a toe hold on Korea by rushing reinforcements, but this would tie up our full fighting strength and would be more costly than the Korean appendix is worth.

The cost in American lives of the Korean retreat hasn't been estimated. However, the Pentagon has received spot figures which forebode a terrible casualty list—higher than that of the Battle of the Bulge.

Christmas Spirit Been Restored

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 7—(AP)—Nine-year-old David Sayre had saved some money he made running errands, and he went Christmas shopping.

He bought a $1.19 cigarette lighter for his father, Morris Sayre, a 59-cent purse for his mother, and a coin purse for his sister. But when he got home he was crying. Someone at a store counter had taken his bag of gifts while he wasn't looking.

A newspaper printed the story. Yesterday David received an anonymous letter saying: "I dont want you to feel bad at this time of the year, and hope the inclosed will restore your Christmas spirit."

The enclosed was five $1 bills.

Homes Minus Heat by Break In Gas Line

Back to Normal At Nevada After Pressure Drops

A spokesman for the Missouri Public Service Company in Sedalia stated that gas conservation measures asked by the Nevada branch of the company will not be necessary here.

The pipeline servicing Sedalia (Cities Service) is an entirely different one than that used by Nevada. The line used locally comes through Kansas directly from the field in Oklahoma. The last compressing station on our line is in Ottawa, Kas., while Nevada's gas comes by a different line, through Ft. Scott.

NEVADA, Mo., Dec. 7—(AP)—Natural gas supplies were back to normal here today.

Householders heating with gas were asked yesterday to help conserve supplies as the sudden demand brought the pressure down as far as 29 pounds per square inch. Normal is between 80 and 100.

A. G. Smith, local manager for the Missouri Public Service company, said he believed the improvement in the situation was the result of conservation measures by residents. He had asked the to maintain temperatures of 60 day and night and to close off unused rooms.

No Thought of A Withdrawal

Such is Voiced by Defense Minister Of Great Britain

LONDON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell declared in the House of Commons today "there is no thought in our minds or in that of the American authorities of withdrawal from Korea."

He said there may be "still harder tidings" from the critical front, however. "No one knows what the outcome will be. It would be foolish to under estimate the size or determination of the Chinese intervention."

He told the House U. N. forces already face 270,000 Red Chinese soldiers, with 500,000 more in reserve.

He paid tribute to "the gallantry with which our allies — particularly the U. S. soldiers, the main bearers of the burden — are fighting this desperate and unequal battle, and added:

"The government are fully aware of the anxiety which must be felt by the relatives of those serving in Korea and indeed by the whole country. We share their anxiety."

Trying to Escape

A Royal Marine commando unit is fighting with American forces trying to escape the Chinese Communist trap in northwestern Korea.

Shinwell said this commando unit suffered casualties of eight killed, 26 wounded and 35 missing last Wednesday. He said he had no fresh reports of casualties from the two United Kingdom brigades engaged in western Korea.

Up to the time of the Chinese Communist offensive, the United Kingdom forces had listed 52 killed, 174 wounded and five missing.

American casualties have passed the 31,000 mark.

Conservative Beverley Baxter declared in the debate that "if it came to a choice between destruction of our men and use of the atom bomb I and many of my friends would support the use of the bomb."

Intervention 'Crux of Third World War'

Vishinsky So Asserts Before United Nations

LAKE SUCCESS, Dec. 6—(AP)—Despite vigorous Soviet opposition, the U.N. political committee decided today to give top priority to debate on a six-power demand for the withdrawal of Chinese Communists from Korea.

LAKE SUCCESS, Dec. 7—(AP)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky told the United Nations today "the American intervention in Korea is the crux of the third world war and it must be halted to avert it."

The Soviet foreign minister spoke before the General Assembly's 60-nation political committee in a vigorous attempt to delay debate on a six-power demand for the withdrawal of Chinese Communist troops from Korea.

A few minutes before he spoke, another Communist delegate, Vavro Hajdu of Czechoslovakia, said any demand for the Chinese Reds would have only "platonic value" within a few days because of the rapid retreat of the U.N. forces. He said peace is being served rather than endangered by the Communist advances in Korea.

Vishinsky flatly rejected an appeal by Faris El Khoury of Syria that he drop his opposition and let the committee get on with its debate on the China-Korea issue. El Khoury had appealed that the peace of the world was involved in the Korean conflict and the committee should do something to ally world fears.

Ask 25 Year Term for Spy

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 7—(AP)—The government demanded a prison sentence of 25 years for confessed atomic spy courier Harry Gold, and sentence was delayed until Saturday morning to permit "reflection" by U.S. District Judge James P. McGranery.

The delay surprised the crowd jamming the court room. Gold received it without visible emotion, and later was led back to his prison cell.

U.S. Attorney Gerald A. Gleason said his recommendation for the 25-year term had the approval of Attorney General Howard McGrath. And he charged that Gold, in helping deliver U.S. atomic and industrial secrets to Soviet Russia, had acted "in contempt of the authority of the United States."

Defense Attorney John D. M. Hamilton did not make a specific recommendation of sentence. Through a three-hour argument tracing Gold's background he emphasized that Gold "is not accused of conspiring to harm the United States."

Line Established For Stand About 25 Miles South of Fallen Pyongyang

TOKYO, Dec. 7—(AP)—Allied troops braced on a new hill defense line 25 miles south of fallen Pyongyang today for a stand against steadily advancing vanguards of a million-man Chinese Red expeditionary force.

The line stretched inland 70 miles in northwest Korea from the Yellow Sea. It was a defense in depth on commanding heights and not a solid line.

The U. S. Eighth army, with its long and bitter retreat at a halt, was greatly outnumbered and hard hit but still was a unified fighting force.

The Chinese armies in front of it were estimated at 100,000 men with up to 80,000 combat reserves behind those Reds and hundreds of thousands more in Korea or moving up from Manchuria.

The Eighth army force on the defense line is something less than the 110,000 men Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker had when he was forced to retreat late in November.

Battle to Break Traps

Northeast of the new line, U. S. Marines and doughboys battled in a blizzard in a dogged effort to break out of Red traps south of the Changjin reservoir. They broke out of one and have to fight through another.

Underscoring the critical situation of the United Nations forces near the reservoir and elsewhere in the northeast was the withdrawal of the American garrison from the east coast port of Wonsan.

A bombardment by three U. S. destroyers and shore fire by South Korean Marines covered the pull-out of Wonsan. Presumably the American garrison at Wonsan was relatively small. It was not identified.

Wonsan was captured Oct. 10 by South Korean forces. The same marines trapped at the Changjin reservoir landed at the port Oct. 15 after a week--long sweeping of a minefield off shore. Because the port already had been secured, the marines called it "Operation what-the-hell."

Hamhung and its nearby port of Hungnam, 50 miles north of Wonsan, now becomes the allies' main escape route in the northeast. It is more centrally located for the widely scattered units of the Tenth Corps.

Arching Line Northwest

The new line in the northwest is 85 miles north of Seoul, the Korean republic's capital, and is 58 miles north of parallel 38. General MacArthur described it as arching from the west coast port of Chinnampo to Koksan, an inland town 53 miles southeast of Pyongyang.

There was no explanation as to why the location of the defense

Always Right to Strive For Peace in a Troubled World

By Dewitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Close by my office window in New York City's Rockefeller Plaza they are busy trimming the great Christmas tree which yearly, through the Star of Bethlehem on its top, proclaims the message of "peace on earth, good will to men."

Meantime across my desk there pours a stream of news dispatches recording strife in many parts of our troubled world. It is an incongruous mixture of ideas.

Still, that great white star atop the tree is a most persuasive reminder that it is right to keep striving for peace.

It may even be right to make bargains — providing that can be done with honor. And on this score British prime minister Attlee, who has been conferring with President Truman in Washington, declared in a speech yesterday that there will be "no appeasement" of Red China in an effort to halt the Korean fighting.

So we salute the United Nations and statesmen like Premier Neh-

ru of India, for their persistent search to find some common ground on which the opponents in the ideological strife can meet to avoid shooting wars.

Struggle Desperate One

However, we can't expect anything more from the peacemakers than avoidance of gun play, as I see it. The bitter strife of the isms isn't susceptible to compromise of any sort. It is a fight to a finish between bolshevism and democracy, and that desperate struggle is likely to go on and on,, far beyond your time and mine.

For the most part (we hope) this historic fight will be confined to the "cold war." That is bad enough in all conscience, with its cloak-and-dagger tactics. But bloodshed on the battlefield is another thing.

The Korean conflict is a volcanic eruption of the cold war. Whether peace efforts can achieve anything there is extremely doubtful. However, that is no reason why efforts shouldn't be made to end the bloody conflict.

The difficulty of peace efforts in that direction was shown yesterday in a speech by Soviet foreign minister Vishinsky before the U. N. general assembly. He derided a direct appeal by 13 Asian and Middle East countries to Pieping to halt Red China's forces at the 38th parallel in Korea. He declared China and its people want peace but that it must come after the withdrawal of U. N. forces from Korea.

Admittedly the avalanche of Chinese troops pouring down from Mancuria against the allies might drive the latter from the peninsula. But the allies won't quit voluntarily under pressure.

In this connection prime minister Attlee yesterday declared at a National Press club luncheon in Washington that so long as "the Stars and Stripes fly in Korea the British flag will fly besides them." That was a neat pledge of Anglo-American solidarity in this great issue.

However, it is reported that President Truman and Premier Attlee have agreed that Europe is the prime center of conflict with Russian Communism. And the corollary to this is taken to be that it would be folly for the western powers to allow themselves to be maneuvered into a major war with China.

The problem would seem to be how to keep the Korean conflict from growing. It's hard to see how this can be achieved short of some sort of agreement — a problem for the peace experts.

Cpl. Oliver Nye of the army reserve was called to duty November 25 and reported to Fort Sheridan, Ill., to be processed and will be stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash. Michael was graduated from the Clinton high school in 1950 and enlisted in the navy in August. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hall, 216½ East Cecond street. in public to confer, or in private to prepare.

The United States has atom bombs, long range aircraft and the world's largest navy. Its armies are being expanded; its allies re-armed. Its industries are far stronger in war-waging potentialities than they were in 1941.

Russia and her satellites have twice the manpower of the west. Ther ieconomy is geared for war. Their spy and sabotage rings are active throughout the world. Russia may have atom bombs, too. If general war should come, the U. S. would have to fight again on a distant front but this time, the experts agree, the "Pearl Harbors" might easily be American cities.

The world has come thus far in just nine years.

Municipal League Dinner

The West Central Division of the Missouri Municipal league closed its all-day meeting at the Bothwell hotel Wednesday night with a dinner in the Ambassador room. Otha Rawlings, city attorney, Marshall was the after dinner speaker and addressed the mayors and city officials on "Legislative Aims of the League."

Rawlings discussed Civil defense, the State Drivers License law, Equitable Assessment of Property, Social Security Extension to City Employees, Taxation problems and other factors concerning the successful operation of municipalities. The speaker was introduced by Mayor Studer of Sedalia.

points. It was four below at Springfield, the lowest ever recorded there for so early in the season.

Macon had nine below; Kirksville seven below, Chillicothe six below, Jefferson City four below, Columbia two below and St. Joseph zero.

Other readings, above the zero mark, included St. Louis three, Kansas City four and Poplar Bluff eight.

Hard surfaced roads in the Springfield area had scattered spots of ice, while gravel roads were covered with packed snow. Snow flurries fell in that city this morning.

Slowly rising temperatures were forecast for the entire state, with lows of 10 to 15 north and 15 to 20 in the south. High readings Friday were expected to range from 20 to 25 in the north to 25 to 30 in the south.

Highways also were slippery in the Moberly area, where a fine snow was falling at 10 a. m. Moberly's low reading was five below.

Freeze Far in South
By the Associated Press

An early December storm, bringing heavy snow and subzero cold to the midwest, swept over parts of the south and headed for eastern states today.

It was below zero as far south as Arkansas early today. Sleet and snow swept across Alabama. Parts of Dixie shivered in below freezing readings and the freezing temperatures extended all the way to the west gulf coast.

Snow piled high over the midwest — up to a depth of 28 inches at Duluth, Minn., at the western tip of Lake Superior. There was snow all over the middle and upper Mississippi valley and the Lake Superior region. And more fell today.

Rain changed to snow in parts of Kentucky and Tennessee.

Two-thirds of Tennessee were gripped by the cold and snow. There was snow at Memphis and a light fall at Nashville and five-inches at Newfound Gap in the Great Smokies at the extreme eastern end of the state. Memphis braced for five above readings. Seventy-six schools were closed in Shelby (Memphis) county. Many roads in the state were closed.

There was rain in the southern Great Lakes region and southward into Florida.

The cold weather, after moving southward to the west Gulf states, pushed slowly northeastward into the lower Ohio Valley and Tennessee. The mercury dropped to -3 at Fayetteville, Arkansas.

The cold and snow was blamed for at least seven deaths in the storm belt.

Two deaths from the cold were reported in Texas. One was an unidentified teen-ager who was found frozen to death 10 miles east of Amarillo. A young farm hand was found frozen to death on the Mississippi river sand bar near Dyersburg, Tenn. One man froze to death while sleeping in his car in Memphis. Three deaths from the cold and snow were reported in Iowa.

The strong winds and cold which hit the Texas Panhandle took a toll of livestock. An Amarillo hide and wool company said it had to dispose of about 1,000 carcasses, most of them Brahma cattle.

The heavy snowfall in Minnesota caused hazardous conditions on many highways. All highways south of the twin cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul were described as a "single blanket of ice" by state highway patrolmen and motorists were warned not to drive on the roads.

The cold moderated somewnat in the midwest — but not much —today included -9 at Dickson, N. D., Chadron, Neb. and Lemmon, S. D.

St. Louis had a low of five above and it was 8 above at Oklahoma City. Shreveport, La., shivered in 15 above and it was 25 at Jackson, Miss. Readings were only a few degrees above zero in the Texas Panhandle.

Windsors' Affectionate Reunion

The Duchess of Windsor, first aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth as it docked in New York Dec. 6, affectionately embraces the Duke of Windsor. After kissing and embracing at the head of the gangway, the Duke and Duchess kissed again and again for photographers until the Duchess said: "Look, we are overdoing it." Both laughed when asked to comment on published rumors of an estrangment. (AP Wirephoto)

Telephones In Elevators

NE YORK—(AP)—Telephones for passengers are being installed in all elevators of the new Sutton Terrace luxury apartment project on New York's fashionable east side.

The phones are being hooked up to the house switchboard in the three structures that comprise the project. Convenience and safety are the purposes.

David Tishman, one of the builders, explains that a tenant who has forgotten to call the doorman to order a taxi before leaving an apartment, will be able to call from the elevator and have a taxi waiting at the curb.

To Honor First Settlers

TEL AVIV—(AP)—The 66 families—the first who settled 40 years ago in what is now Israel's largeset city, Tel Aviv: 350,000 inhabitante—will be honored by a monument bearing their names. It will be set up in front of the Tel Aviv Museum. Aaron Freiber will be the sculptor.

Withdraw Along Highway

A long line of U. S. 24th infantry division troops withdraw along the Chongju Pakonon highway in North Korea, following the huge Chinese Communist attack. U. N. troops have had to move to rear areas and evacuate many of their defense positions following the onslaught of nearly 200,000 Chinese Red troops. (NEA Telephoto)

Brain Trouble; Red Version

VIENNA —(AP)— The development of the "mechanical brain" in the United States is designed to stop the processes of human thought. That is what the Communists say. The Romanian newspaper "Universul" recently gave this explanation of the American invention:

"The mechanical brain is an electronic machine which the American pseudo-scientific researchers want to use instead of the human brain. Now, when the Wall Street usurers are preparing to start a third world war, they do not need human thought. They stifle thought. Hatred of man—this is the supreme law of the American gangster."

The home, which is over 200 years old and was formerly the residence of the Danish governors, is furnished with many hand carved pieces in the traditional Icelandic style. Bjornsson invited the children into his study where he showed them his collection of photographs of European Royalty as well as many notablese of the United States government.

HURT!
Don't despair because nagging aches and pains, due to deficiencies of Vitamin B1, B2, Iron and Niacin, rob you of rest, make life miserable. Today's great Hadacol may relieve the real cause, due to such deficiencies, for you as it has for folks like this.
Mrs. Rose Williams Winn, 4427 Maffitt Avenue, St. Louis 13, Missouri, says: "I have been troubled with pains in my legs off and on for a long time. I work in a Drug Store as Fountain help. I could hardly go up and down stairs without much effort, on account of such pains. About 4 weeks ago, I decided to try Hadacol. I did not have much faith, but I took one bottle and it gave such relief, I bought another one and I am completely relieved of the misery, and I will not be without Hadacol. I have told all my friends and they have started taking it also, with much satisfaction."
Many doctors recommend Hadacol. Trial size bottle, only $1.25; large family or hospital size, $3.50. Only Hadacol gives you that "Wonderful Hadacol Feeling." Strict money-back guarantee.

Kindliness And Friendly Aid is Freely Given in Cold and Snow

With the first real snow and zero weather of the winter there are many little things of human interest that come to light, people fuss about the temperature but there is good humor and friendliness everywhere. There is an instinct to do the nice, thoughtful little things, too.

The first very slick day a young Smith-Cotton high school girl was down on Ohio avenue when she saw an elderly woman slip and fall. The young girl rushed to her, picked her up and asked if she was hurt. She wasn't—only frightened. The girl suggested that she call a taxi for the woman so she could get safely home but the woman declined — she didn't have the money for taxi fare. Then the girl did something that few older people would have done—she called the taxi, saw that the woman got in and paid the fare herself.

Another thing done after the snow had deepened the same day, a small girl, not more than six or seven years old, in a gray cap and coat, was going down Grand avenue. She saw a newspaper sticking up out of the snow at the edge of the walk where the paper boy had thrown it. She stopped, not knowing that anyone saw her, picked it up and tried to throw it up on the porch. She was so little that she could not throw that far, but she did get it near enough that the people of the home could get it without having to get out in the snow.

Taxi drivers were having a busy time, trying to get everybody to work or everywhere they wanted to go—and if the call got in early enough people got to work on time. However, some people just didn't make it and some decided to walk. One young woman couldn't get a taxi so called a friend not too far away from where she lived and he told her he would be by to pick her up—but when he tried to start his car it wouldn't start. Then she called another friend and asked that he pick them both up—he assured her he would be by in a short time—but a few minutes later his wife called and said he, too, was having trouble — he couldn't get his car started either. And so the girl walked—a mile and a half to work in the zero weather and snow—and it took her all day to thaw out—but next time she is going to put in that taxi call real early.

She will probably be like another girl who had the taxi ordered for early in the morning, so she would be sure to get to work on time and then overslept. When she heard the taxi honk, she put on her coat, slipped on her shoes, grabbed her clothes and started out. Of course she had to dress after she got there but at least she was on time.

But as busy as the taxi drivers were all day Wednesday, one answered a call to a hotel and found that his passenger, after he had gotten in, wanted to go to a store around the corner, next door to the hotel—the man, who had been having a right jolly time, was perfectly willing to pay for the ride around the corner and gave a ten cent tip.

Extra Payment In Penney Stores

The board of directors of the J. C. Penney company have authorized a special year-end payment of an amount equal to two weeks' pay for all full-time associates who have been employed for the full year of 1950 and proportionate amounts for extra and part-time associates and those employed less than a year.

All Penney associates except management staff members whose earnings are determined largely by the company's long standing profit-sharing plan, will share in the payment. It will be made on December 15th at each associate's December 15th pay rate.

Paul Hedderich, manager of the J. C. Penney company store in Sedalia, said that more than 50,000 Penney associates throughout the United States would participate in the payment, including the employes of the Sedalia store.

He said the company president, A. W. Hughes, in a letter to store associates, pointed out that the payment was "based upon the results attained for 1950. An extra payment of this sort for a company of our size represents a very large amount. The possibility of similar payments in future years will continue to depend upon the results attained in those years." Mr. Hughes added:

"We are happy that the company is able to recognize associates' efforts in this special, substantial manner in addition to the regular company provisions for associates' benefit, which include the sick benefit plan, the gratuitous death and dismemberment benefit plan, the thrift and profit-sharing retirement plan and others."

to avert a third world war," Vishinsky said, " I say that what you are concocting will not avert it. The American intervention in Korea is the crux of the third world war and it must be halted to avert it."

French delegate Jean Chauvel touched off the bitter procedural clash by demanding top priority for the six-power proposal for withdrawal of the Chinese Communists. Vishinsky said his demand was "most unprecedented." He argued that the committee must continue with debate on Russia's charges of American aggression against Formosa.

No decision had been taken when the committee recessed for lunch. Another meeting was called for 3 p.m. (EST).

While the procedural wrangle tied u p the committee, U.N. diplomats anxiously awaited word from Peiping whether the Chinese Reds are ready to accept any of the several pleas for a cease-fire. India's Sir Benegal N. Rau, one of the leaders in the peace efforts, said this morning he still has received no reply from Chinese Communist envoy Wu Hsiu-Chuan.

Ray conferred privately with Wu twice last week-end and submitted to him some proposals. He also was one of the sponsors of the 13-nation appeal by Asian and Middle East countries that the Chinese forces halt at the 38th parallel.

France was a co-sponsor of a six-nation resolution demanding that the Peiping troops be withdrawn immediately from Korea.

New Hill Defense Line Against the Reds

line was announced. It previously had been a deep secret.

There were no set lines in the northeast. Three American and two South Korean divisions are all over the rugged map there, with the marines and two regiments of the U. S. Seventh infantry division in the worst spot.

They pushed into Koto today after a bitter battle through the heavy Chinese resistance south of the Changjin reservoir.

It took them 25 hours to batter their way eight miles from Hagaru.

The first elements of two marine and two infantry regiments made their way into Koto at 7:25 a. m. (5 p. m. EST Wednesday)

Associated Press correspondent Jack Macbeth, the only correspondent in Koto, said eight hours later they "are still coming into Koto today."

A headquarters spokesman said "the pressure is heavy at Hagaru and the enemy is trying to capture as man of our men as they can."

The Americans still were faced with fighting their way out of Koto through heavy Communist concentrations to cover the 40 miles of winding mountain road southeast to Hamnung.

Seven Chinese divisions were reported deployed along the road —the only escape route south from Koto. The spokesman said he may be able tomorrow to identify two other Chinese divisions fighting to hold the Americans in the trap.

The eight-mile trek into Koto was rugged enough. Elements of the Fifth and Seventh Marine regiments and the 31st and 32nd regiments of the Seventh division fought through zero weather, a blinding snow storm and one Chinese roadblock after another.

The Communists threw mortar and small arms fire, "Molotov cocktails" — gasoline filled bottles — and sticks of explosives at the Americans.

Col. Lewis Puller, commander of the marine First regiment, said the Chinese have blown bridges and blocked the road "but we'll make a fight out of it."

Infantrymen from the U. S. Third division moved up from the Hamhung area to try to clear the road for the trapped Americans. They were forced to halt near Majon, 15 road miles south of Koto and engage the Chinese troops in heavy fighting.

A security blackout held up reports from the other northeast sectors.

U. N. troops face three Red armies and elements of a fourth on the farflung front.

American troops have evacuated the Hyesanjin area on the North Korean-Manchurian border. The headquarters spokesman refused to give the location of the troops or of the Republic of Korea Capital division.

Homes Minus Heat by Break In Gas Line

ing was two below.

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 7—(AP)—A break in a 10-inch gas main touched off a pyramid of woes for 14,000 residents of southern Clay county last night.

First, they lost the main means of heating their 3,500 homes.

Then when the temperature inside dropped they swamped the Gladstone telephone exchange trying to find out what was wrong.

This damaged the exchange and service was lost for hours.

When residents turned on electric heaters, this overloaded the power lines and fuses began to pop.

To add to the woe, workmen out try to shoot down the many troubles complained of getting stuck on the icy streets.

Billfold Reported Lost Found Minus Money

A billfold reported to the police by Joe Stout, South Washington avenue, as lost or stolen several days ago, was found in the men's rest room at the court house and turned over to the magistrate office. It had been reported as lost while at the Main street cigar store and it is believed it was found by someone and taken to the men's rest room at the court house where the money, about $30 in cash, was removed and the billfold thrown on the floor.

It contained three checks totalling $87.13.

Make Yours a Safe And Merry Christmas

Take these basic precautions with your Christmas decorations and insure a SAFE and merry Christmas.

By Bob Scharff
Written for NEA Service

Christmas is the gayest season of the year. But, failure to take proper precautions may make you an unfortunate victim of one of the thousands of fires that happen during the holiday season.

Begin with your tree. Although the evergreen is a symbol of Yuletide spirit, it is also the chief source of holiday fires. It is filled with pitch and resin and, as it dries out, it becomes tinder. Actual tests have shown that an average Christmas tree will burn up in less than two minutes. This means that you have a roaring blaze before it is possible to call the local fire department. A fire extinguisher may not be a Christmas decoration, but if close at hand, it may be a holiday saver.

Use a fresh tree, not one that is dry and tindery. Keep it outdoors until you use it, and set it up only the day that it is to be decorated. To help keep the tree alive, chop some cuts in the butt end and stand it in a pail of water. If possible place the tree in the coolest part of the house, where it will not block any means of exit, and turn off the radiator nearest it.

There are many so-called methods of flameproofing Christmas trees. However none has ever proved successful enough to receive the approval of National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Sheets of aluminum foil spread around the base provides decorative floor protection and it will lessen fire danger too.

Check and replace frayed electric cords and sockets used to string lights on tree. Provide a switch some distance away from the tree to turn the lights on and off. Also watch the house circuits for overloading. Never put a larger fuse in to carry the extra load of Christmas lights.

When no one is in the room with the tree, turn off the Christmas lights. If the needles near the lights start to turn brown, change the location of the lights. When the needles start to fall, it's time to take the tree down and discard it.

Incidentally, use only apprvoed exterior type lights on outdoor trees. Where window lights are used, hold the curtains away from them with tiebacks.

Although electric trains look nice around the base of a tree, they are a potentail source of fire because of sparks. It's much safer to set them up at a distance from the tree.

If you plan to make paper decorations, be sure to use the new flameproof paper, available from most large stationery and decorating supply houses.

When there is doubt about the flameproofness of old paper decorations, make a solution from one pound of ammonium chloride in a gallon of water and spray it on. While it will not make the decorations fireproof, it will reduce the fire hazard by making most types of paper slow burning.

Also, once presents are unwrapped, throw out the paper wrappings immediately.

Christmas is the time for children's plays with their flimsy gauze costumes. To make these costumes and dresses flame-resistant, dip them in a solution of nine ounces of boraz, four ounces of boric acid and a gallon of water. Saturate the fabric, wring it out by hand, and allow to dry. If the costume is ever washed, it must be re-treated.

Wilson Case Is Dismissed

The case against Malcolm Wilson, charged with intent to do bodily harm, was dropped Tuesday in the Boone county Circuit court.

Wilson allegedly shot James Cornwall several weeks ago in a strike scuffle near the entrance of radio station KDRO.

The case was transferred to the Boone county court on a change of venue requested by Wilson.

William F. Brown, prosecuting attorney of Pettis county, decided not to prosecute.

'Warlike' Peace Songs For Peace

VIENNA — (AP) — What is war and what is peace? East Europe's Communists use "peace" as the biggest,, most frequent word in their newspapers. It is part of the Communist campaign that Russia is the only power against war.

But sometimes the Communists get their words mixed up. The Hungarian newspaper "Magyar Nemzet" recently reported::

"Our composers are writing noble, warlike peace songs for our peace congress."

Big Seven Cage Teams to Hit Both Coasts

Early Non-League Record of 9 Wins, Four Losses

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 7 — (AP)— Big Seven conference basketball teams, with an early non-league record of 9 victories against 4 losses, appear in games on both the east and west coasts this week-end.

The Nebraska Cornhuskers will begin a two-game stand against Washington in Seattle tomorrow night.

Kansas Jayhawks, who won their second start 56-38 against Utah State last night, head east where Coach Phog Allen's high-powered men open a three-game eastern swing against St. Joseph's in Philadelphia Saturday.

Kansas State, after winning two of its three eastern games, will be at home Saturday to dedicate its new 13,,000 seating capacity field house. Utah State will be the opponent. The Wildcats trimmed Purdue last night, 60-44, for their second victory over a Big Ten team.

Kansas State defeated Ohio State, 68-51, Monday after losing its opener, 59-60 to Long Island university last Saturday.

Missouri is scheduled to open its campaign against Washington in St. Louis tonight, then take on City College of New York in Madison Square Garden Saturday.

Colorado, which dropped a couple of close games to Utah and Utah State last week-end, meets Colorado A. & M. at Fort Collins Friday and at Boulder Saturday.

Iowa State, with two vicotries, plays Drake at Des Moines Saturday.

Meanwhile, eyes were on Oklahoma where Coach Drake's supposedly weak Sooners toppled Texas, 49-35, last night. That made it two in a row for Oklahoma over a Southwest conference team, the Sooners having beaten SMU 47-39, last week.

Kansas State gave Purdue a first class shooting exhibition as all twelve of the 'Cats figured in the scoring. Coach Jack Gardner's crew hit .434 per cent of their field shots. Purdue only .236. Ernie Barrett of K-State led the scoring with 12 points.

Kansas' big Clyde Lovelette, who scored 25 points as Kansas opened 51-35 against Creighton, counted 11 fielders for 22 points against Utah State last night. Lovellette played less than three-fourth of the distance.

Oklahoma, minus all five of its last season's starters via graduation, offered a balanced attack in leading Texas all the way.

Faurot Honored At a Dinner

ST. Louis, Dec. 7 — (AP) — Nearly 500 persons turned out despite three inches of snow last night and honored the University of Missouri's coach Don Faurot on his 25 years as a football coach, 16 of them at Missouri.

The dinner assembly at the Missouri Athletic club included some big names of sports and there were some fine telegrams from others who couldn't make it because of the weather.

Bill Corum, president of Churchill Downs, expressed hope that Faurot would keep on coaching at Columbia "until he's running neck and neck with the columns as a landmark and until trains begin running through Columbia."

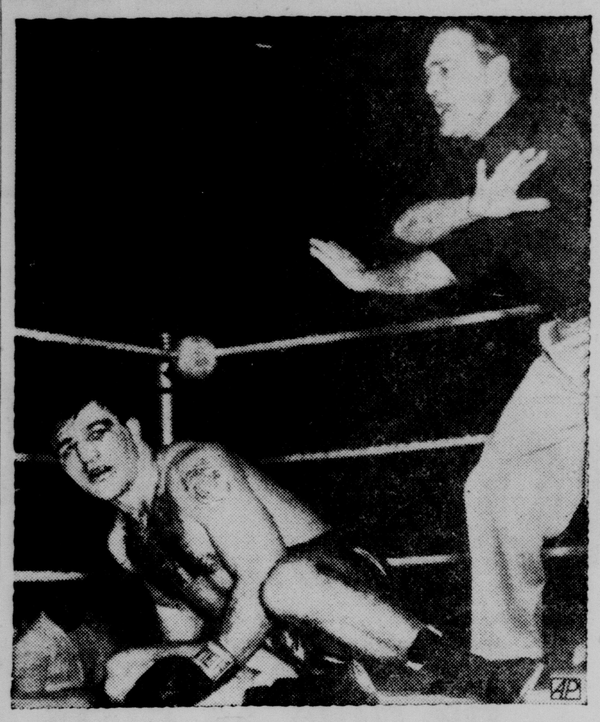
John Lardner ventered a single fearless forecast: "When Oklahoma's long and almost tedious winning streak is broken, it will be broken by Faurot and Missouri."

Oklahoma's coach Bud Wilkinson, stalled by the storm, sent a message hailing Faurot for "his conception of the Split T as the greatest contribution to offensive football in the last 20 years."

The Knute Rockne club saluted him as the "champion coach of coaches."

His 80-year-old father, Fred W. Faurot, an active farmer near Kirksville, was there and the son said he was "happy Dad could be here because his guidance was a tremendous help."

Barone Couned Out



Battered Nick Barone sits helpless on the ring floor and is counted out by Referee Tony Warndorf after Barone was floored in the 11th round by Ezzard Charles who defended his heavyweight crown in the Cincinnati Garden Dec. 5. (AP Wirephoto)

Two Games at Park Tonight

When CBC takes on the Clinton Elks at the Sacred Heart gymnasium tonight the starting lineup of Business college basketeers will be Billy Elwell and Neil Kemmeyer guards; Foster McGuire and Dick Harris forwards and Hillard Willie center. On reserve will be Bud Thomas, Bob Jackson, David Wells and Artie Elwell.

The starting five for the Clinton aggregation has not been received by Manager Barney Ellis, but will be taken from the following men:: Don Richardson, Bill Harvey, Shelby Felhauer, John Nuhn, Bob Spangler, Bill Howell, Roger Walker, Dale Hendrickson, Gene Miller and Kermit Lubber.

Preceding the game between CBC and Clinton there will be a preliminary game between Town and Country Shoes and Otterville.

The floor at Convention hall was cleaned, marked and varnished this week by the Lion's club. They anticipated that this will make playing much better for all teams concerned. It is hoped that spot lights will be installed over each of the baskets to aid in elimination of the shadows that now exist over the baskets.

Proximity Wins Harness Award

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 — (AP) — Proximity, harness racing's all-time champion money winner on Wednesday was named "harness horse of the year" for 1950.

The announcement came from E. Roland Harriman, president of the Trotting Horse Club of America, which sponsors the annual selection. Proximity, owned by Ralph and Gordon Verhurst of Victor, N. Y., is the first mare to receive such recognition since the first poll was taken in 1947.

Sixteen Teams in Miami Tourney

By James F. Fowler

MIAMI, Dec. 7 — (AP) — John Barnum and Jack Shields ranked the darkhorse favorites today as 16 teams competed in the second round of the $10,000 Miami International four-ball golf tournament.

Barnum, young Grand Rapids, Mich., professional, and Shields of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, ,yesterday upset highly favored Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., and Jack Burks, Jr., Houston, Tex., 5 and 4, in one of the most remarkable best-ball rounds ever played on the Miami Country club course. They meet Bill Nary and Joe Kirkwood, Jr., today. The Nary-Kirkwood team beat Otey Crisman, Selma, Ala., and Harold Williams, Tuscaloosa, Ala. Kirkwood twice evened the match with 40-foot birdie putts when he and his partner were trailing. His six-foot birdie putt on the 18th decided the match.

With Barnum carrying a lion's share of the load, the duo carded a six-under par 30 on the front nine and were nine under par when the match ended on the 34th hole. Barnum carded an eagle — two under par — and five birdies for the round. He collected his eagle on the par four second hole when he canned a 90-yard approach shot. His putts of 3, 10, 4, 15 and 18 feet were all birdie putts.

SOCKIN' FOR SOX — Lou Boudreau, former Cleveland star, will swing the wood for his old boss, Steve O'Neill, when the 1951 season opens. Boudreau signed as a Red Sox player when the Indians released him as pilot.

Ray Eckert Beats Wild Bill McIntyre

The show must go on—was the attitude of the Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion and wrestlers, Wednesday night, but only two matches could be presented. The "Neighborhood Brawl," Eckert vs McIntyre, was the feature match with Eckert winning but without considerable trouble.

The first event saw Jerry "Killer" Meeker, Missoula, Mont., and Jimmy Sears of Marshall go three falls with Meeker coming out on top taking the first and third stanza.

Marshall Esteppe, the wrestling "Postmaster" from Sturgeon who was scheduled against Meeker was unable to get to Sedalia because of illness. Lou Spandle who was to referee was likewise unable to get to Sedalia because of the weather.

Popular demand of the fans wanting to see only two matches made it possible to go on with the show. George Leopold, St., Joseph, who was slated against Sears acted as referee and Sears was shifted up to Esteppes palce on the card.

Meeker won the first fall in 28 minutes using the back-breaker and lost the second fall to Sears when he was caught using the ropes and was disqualified by the referee, in two minutes and 40 seconds. The third fall ended in five minutes with Meeker using the back-breaker.

Ray Eckert of California, Mo., took two straight falls from Bill McIntyre of Otterville after a real roughhouse match. After 12 minutes and 10 seconds Eckert used the front rolling headlock to get his man and repeated with the same hold to win in 13 minutes and 40 seconds.

The next wrestling card will be held in January.

First Round Tipton Tourney

The Tipton tournament is in full swing with three games being played Wednesday night in the first rounds. Three games are to be played tonight, the two semi-final games Friday with the finals on Friday night.

In the opener on Wednesday Jamestown defeated Clarksburg 66-29.

Browns To Hold Baseball School In Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Dec. 7— (AP)—The St. Louis Browns of the American league will conduct its third annual baseball school here March 13 to 22.

This was announced today by Dave Wallace, Pine Bluff Commercial sports editor, who said the Brown's minor league farm clubs probably will start spring training here after the school.

The school, to oe held at Pine Bluff's Grider Field, will be supervised by James M. McLaughlin, director of the Browns' minor league organizations. He has directed the school the past two years.

Last year 20 per cent of the school's participants were signed to play for one of the Browns' minor league teams. Wallace said it is generally considered above average if five per cent of a baseball school is signed to a contract.

Nine out of 11 minor league clubs under contract to the Browns finished in the first division last year. Pine Bluff, one of the 11, won the Cotton States pennant.

Six players on the Browns' ball club are products of the Pine Bluff school, Wallace said. They are:

Don Lenhardt, Roy Sievers, Ken Wood, Owen Friend, Eddy Albrecht and Hank Arft.

Harry Loehlein Named 1951 Cadet Captain

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 7— (AP)—Harold J. Loehlein of Kimball, Minn., was elected captain of the 1951 Army football team Wednesday.

Lt. John Trent, recently killed in action in Korea, held the honor in 1949 and Dan Folberg, All-American this season, led the Cadets this fall.

Ball Carrying Duel Looms

Smith and Mixon In Post Season Charity Game

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 — (AP)—The year's first big post-season football game shaped up today as a ball-carrying duel between Bob Smith of Texas A. & M. and Billy Mixon of Georgia.

The game is the inaugural president's cup contest, so-called because American Legion sponsors claim President Truman approved the idea of a post-season game for charity. It will be played Saturday at Byrd stadium in suburban College Park, Md.

Both teams are due here today, Georgia arriving by train and the Texas Aggies by plane. Coaches Wally Butts of Georgia and Harry Stiteler of Texas A. & M. plan to work out in the game stadium on the University of Maryland campus.

Smith, running star of the Aggies, may give a rugged Georgia defense its stiffest test of the year. The 190-pounder carried the ball almost 20 times a game in the Aggies' regular 10-game schedule and averaged 6½ yards on each attempt.

Butts rates the 185-pound Mixon the hardest runner he has had at Georgia since Frankie Sinkwich. Mixon carried the ball 135 times in the Bulldogs' regular games for a 5.3 yard average.

Butts offered no excuses for Georgia's upset defeat by Georgia Tech last week, saying "they had a lot of good football players." But he said Georgia had some good ones to show the Aggies too.

Georgia's defeat, coupled with the Aggies loss to Texas, gave American Legion sponsors of the game some concern. They originally predicted some 40,000 fans would see the game but have now lowered their estimate to 20,,000.

Winter Meet of Big Ten Opens

CHICAGO, Dec. 7 — (AP) —The Big Ten's annual winter meeting opened today with several important topics on the agenda.

Coaches and faculty committee members and even some of the university presidents pondered such critical sports questions as:

Whether to continue the Rose bowl agreement with the Pacific Coast conference.

What, if any, plans to make regarding possible service call-ups of athletes.

What to do in the future about the so-called "sanity code" of the National Collegiate Athletic association, which places sharp restrictions on financial aid to the athletes.

Whether television of football games should be permitted, or forbidden, as was the case the past season.

Bear Cub Quads Slain by 'Sportsman

Quadruplet bear cubs clamber about their cage shortly before, it was disclosed in Jackman, Me., the cubs were purchased by a "sportsman" from New York who ordered them slain in their cage and then lashed to his car for the drive home. The rare quadruplet bruins were found last May a few days after their birth when the mother was slain by a woodsman. A. L. Pomerleau, a storekeeper in Jackman, sold the cubs which weighed about 80 pounds each to the hunter for $200. (AP Wirephoto)

Minor Leagues Take Problem On Broadcasts To Capital

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 7 —(AP)—Baseball's Minor Leagues have taken their radio problem to Washington.

George Trautman, president of the National Association, of Minor Leagues announced he conferred for 30 minutes with the U. S. Attorney General last week on the matter of baseball broadcasts.

"I was cordially received," said Trautman. He declined to disclose what he had been told.

Trautman and his executive committee huddled with commissioner A. B. Chandler and a major league committee on the radio situation. The solution, still has not been announced. Perhaps it will come out of tomorrow's closed executive session.

Broadcast Hurt Attendance

The minors claim widespread broadcasts of major league games in their cities was an important favor in their 19 per cent attendance decline. They are asking the majors, who control the rights, for relief.

Indications were that the majors alert to the situation would make concessions.

In 1950 the broadcasts were piped into the minor cities except when the minor club actually was playing at home—or 40 minutes before game time. As most of the minors played at night, this left the afternoons wide open for the big league games.

The minors claim fans heard so much baseball during the day from the various "game of the day" broadcasts and the majors' own chains that they didn't bother going out to see the minor league game at night.

Just how far the majors are willing to go in curtailing these broadcasts is not known. But some changes may be made.

Justice Department Interested

The Department of Justice is interested from a restraint of trade possibility standpoint. It has made no public rule on the matter but has discussed the problem with big league lawyers and executives several times.

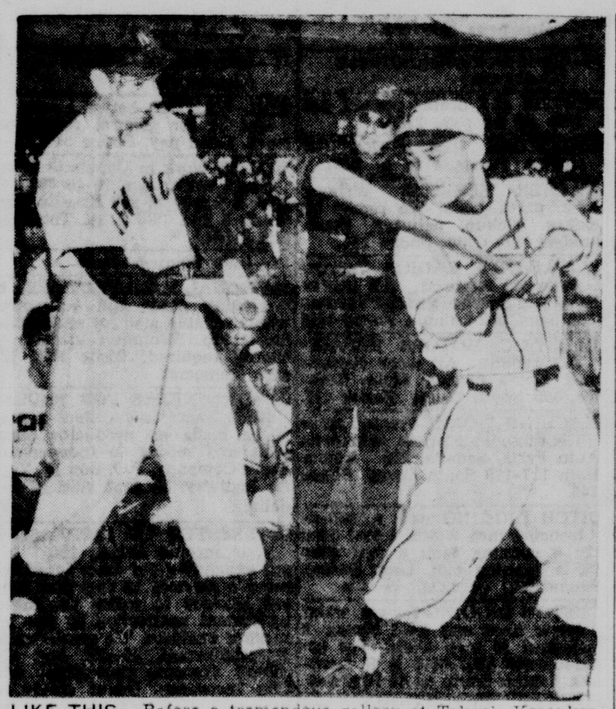
Match Game

A tentative match game has been arranged for 7:30 p. m. Saturday at the Sedalia Bowling Lanes between a local squad and a Kansas City team. The Sedalia kegelers will roll under the name of Adco, Inc., but will be an all-star group. A couple of the better Kansas City bowlers are included in the visiting team lineup offering the Sedalia bowlers top competition. The match is open to the public.

New Bowling Alley

A new 10 lane lay-out is nearly completed just off the northwest corner of the square in Marshall. Bowlers visiting Marhall should stop in and view this fine new bowling plant.



LIKE THIS—Before a tremendous gallery at Tokyo's Korauken Stadium, Joe DiMaggio shows a young Japanese the batting technique that helped the Yankees to pennants and world championships. Lefty O'Doul, twice National League batting champion and manager of the San Francisco Seals, wearing dark glasses in the background, looks on approvingly.

Frank Lawrence, president of the Portsmouth, Va., club of the Piedmont League, will introduce an amendment tomorrow that would ban all radio and television broadcasts of baseball except All-Star and World Series games. Lawrence knows he hasn't a chance with some $5,000,000 in contract involved, but he wants to drag the matter out in public.

High School Rule Under Fire

The high school rule, under fire for some time, probably will be scrapped when the contract runs out, Dec. 31, 1951 Many baseball men want the right to talk to and negotiate with high school players before they graduate. Under the present rule, no high school boy can be signed until he or his class graduates.

Warren Giles, Cincinnati president, submitted a resolution on behalf of the Reds' Tulsa farm that would set up a committee to draft a new high school rule with the National High School Federation.

Giles, one of the three men who drew up the original rule, said he was "in favor of abolishing the rule as it stands." He said baseball should continue to encourage schoolboys to complete their education and retain their athletic eligibility, but asked that clubs be not restricted in discussing terms with the boys, particularly during their senior years.

Bonus Rule On Way Out

It seemed to be pretty much a sure thing that the much-debated bonus rule will be abolished by an overwhelming vote Under this rule clubs were sharply restricted in movement of players who received more than a set sum for signing as free agents—$6,000 for a big league club.

There was little action in the player mart.

Mike Ryba, who has stepped down as Louisville manager, let it be known that he would be connected with the St. Louis Cardinal organization next summer as a coach or manager.

LOSING IT!

I'm going to Korea in two weeks. I must safricice my 1948 Hudson Convertible. No, you're wrong, this IS the time of year to BUY a convertible. It has heater and brand new top to put on, (paid for) as warm as any car. It's equipped. Cost $3,500 two years ago. Radio, Hudson heater, twin spots, fog, backup, and direction lights. Seats red leather, upholstery leopard skin, electric top and windows. U. S. Royal Master tires that cost $51 apiece. Every moving part of the engine and clutch assembly are brand new, $400 worth. I put car in garage before my draft call came and now can't pay for all this and other obligations too. So, if somebody wants a top-flight car, this one is going for what's against it. You may as well have it as the finance company. Can handle for very little down. You can see and drive it at Duff Motor Service at 321 West Main, Sedalia. Be glad to show itemized repair bill.

Hal Boyle Reports From Korea

By Hal Boyle

SEOUL — (AP) — One of the last Americans to leave Red Pyongyang had to fight back an impulse to burn down the city hall.

He is Col. Charles R. Munske of 2718 Avenue K, Brooklyn, military governor of the North Korean capital. He had spent six weeks organizing a new civic government for Pyongyang and restoring the transport system and water and power supply.

Then in a few hours last Sunday the colonel rather ruefully saw the fruits of his six weeks of hard work go up in smoke and debris as American demolition engineers blew up the repaired bridges and power stations.

But Munske was in full accord with the American army policy of leaving nothing behind that would be of any help to the Chinese Reds.

"When I went into my office in the city hall for the last time to burn my papers," he said, "I felt like turning over the stove and burning down the building. But I didn't have the heart to do it."

That was Monday morning. The city appeared empty of all Allied military personnel except for British rear guard troops and the 20 members of his own 8th army civil assistance team.

"There was no rioting or looting — everything was peaceful," the colonel said. "I had kept 1,000 city policemen behind to keep order, but then I decided it was time to let them make their own escape. I gave them the word and they marched south across the bridge. I hope the South Koreans will take them into their army. They were good loyal men."

One of his chief regrets about the evacuation was that he had to leave behind in the city jail about 800 North Koreans being held for political crimes.

"The turnkey had run off with the key," Munske said, "and we had to leave them there to be freed by Reds when they come in. But before that we had taken 38 of the prisoners and sent them south by rail. They were the worst of the lot — men we were holding for trial as war criminals. They will still have to face justice."

Munske and his detachment left Pyongyang Monday afternoon in eight vehicles. They reached here late Wednesday, half frozen after a nightmare 165-mile journey through bitter weather.

A patchwork adhesive tape covered the forehead of the colonel, a stout, white haired officer of middle age who served as an industrial engineer in civil life.

"Just souvenir cuts I got when one of our ammo dumps blew up," he smiled.

His entire detachment narrowly escaped death when the ammunition dump suddenly exploded near its quarters in South Pyongyang Sunday night.

"The first report was that it had been set off by Communists," the colonel said. "But later we heard it started from a fire in an American truck.

"The dump had everything in it from .45 caliber pistol bullets to several thousand artillery shells. We heard a series of explosions and then what sounded like the constant firing of small arms. We could hear projectiles going over the building or falling on the roof like big hailstones.

"I rose and dressed. Then there came two tremendous blasts and flying glass cut most of the men."

Singapore Tries Red Mass Marriages

SINGAPORE — (AP) — The surge of Communist culture which followed the conquest of China has hit Malay's Chinese full force. Its biggest success has been in vitiating the Chinese marriage.

Scores of Chinese couples from all parts of Malaysia have collected in Singapore to be married in the mass marriage ceremonies sponsored by the colony's most active pro-Communist organization the Mayfair Musical and Dramatic Association. The mass marriage has eliminated all the solemnity and done away with all the tradition of the old Chinese marriage whether performed in temple, at home or in church.

Grateful Captive

SALT LAKE CITY — (AP)—Reporter William B. Smart thought he made an enemy when he aided in the capture of an escaped Utah state prison inmate. Smart, of the "Deseret News," and a parole officer recaptured Bertrum G. Hall, convicted robber, after a fistic battle on a downtown street.

As a result, Hall spent two weeks in solitary and lost trusty privileges. The next contact Smart had with Hall was a package in the mail. It contained a hand tooled cowhide wallet.

Apprenticeships Are Completed

Two young Sedalia men have completed apprenticeship as sheet metal workers, according to A. F. Schindler of the Bureau of Apprenticeship, U. S. Department of Labor. They are Henry R. Cusick and Conrad L. DeLapp.

Both Cusick and DeLapp attended the third annual completion of apprenticeship banquet held in Kansas City on Thursday evening, November 30 at the President hotel, at which time the certificates of completion of apprenticeship were presented.

In an effort to have more men qualified in skilled labor the U. S. Department of Labor has arranged for the schools of apprenticeship with the building and construction trades. The schools are two hours a night twice a week and the apprentices also work at the trade during the day under the direction of journeymen. They work four years on construction jobs and during the past three years five have completed apprenticeships as sheet metal workers; eight as carpenters, six as bricklayers and six as painters in Sedalia, all remaining here after receiving their certificates.

The reason for the apprenticeship schools is to increase the number of skilled workers that the great building programs may be carried on in this country. It is the lack of skilled workers that has increased the cost of building, Mr. Schindler said, and the U. S. Department of Labor and the buildings and construction trades are working together on the project of getting more young men interested in skilled trades.

Boom-Boom-Boom is a Musical Boom, But What's The Awful Thing, Anyway?

THREE X'S MARK THE SPOT: For all the "boom-boom-booms" you've been hearing lately, you can put most of the blame on Phil Harris (left), who doesn't look very happy about it, and recording director Henri Rene, who encouraged the song's author.

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The music business is going through a boom in boom-boom-booms these days. And it's all because of a song called "The Thing," a bouncy tune that is sending happy shivers up and down juke boxes all over the country.

In case you don't recognize it by its official title, "The Thing" is that number that uses three rousing boom-boom-booms of the bass drum as part of the lyrics. To refresh your memory (which needs no refreshing if you live within carrying distance of a full-lunged disc jockey), it goes, in part, like this:

"I turned around and got right out a-runnin' for my life,
And then I took it home with me to give it to my wife.
But this is what she hollered at me as I walked in the door:
Oh, get out of here with that x x x and don't come back
no more."*

*(Copyright, 1950, Hollis Music Inc.)

Where those x's are, the lyrics give a direction to "stamp feet." Actually, most recordings have substituted three booming booms on the drum to hide the identity of "The Thing." Which has a lot of people puzzled. Just what is the horrible thing, anyway?

Take it from Charles Grean, manager of RCA's popular records department and the song's composer, there ain't no such thing as a thing.

"I just put some clean lyrics to an old song I've known for a long time. We used to sing some dirty words to it and it was known as 'The Tailor's Boy,'" says Grean (pronounced Gre-on).

"I'd been trying for a long time to write nice lyrics for it, but I'd always put something definite in the place where we stamped our feet. That would ruin it, somehow Finally, I decided to have nothing for the thing in the song. Then I worked it out in an hour and a half."

Grean says he changed a few notes in the music of "The Tailor's Boy," which he thinks had an Irish origin. Then he took the song out to California, where RCA's west coast recording director, Henri Rene, thought it would be a natural for Phil Harris. And it has been—his record is selling at a record pace.

That's the cold-blooded history of "The Thing." But it won't stop people from guessing at what "The Thing" is. New York disc jockey Martin Block conducted a contest. Here are some of the things people thought "The Thing" was:

A transcribed commercial; Chloe; unhappiness; a marriage license; the tail-end of "Mule Train;" a deck of canasta cards; a woman's hat; an 8-by-10 color shot of my mother-in-law; my landlord; one falsie; my boss; a K-ration; the little man who wasn't there singing a chorus of "Good-Night Irene."

The student nurses at St. Luke's Hospital wrote that "The Thing" was undoubtedly an interne at St. Luke's Hospital.

One woman wrote that "the thing must be my husband. I have been looking for him."

"It's just a moral or a lesson to the public that people should mind their own business," wrote another entrant. In the same serious mood, someone else said that it "must be a mirror — nothing else could scare so many people."

Grean himself says that most people he's talked to seem to think the scary Thing is a skunk. Most skunks disagree. If Grean had to say what answer he's heard so far he likes best, he leans to "unhappiness," because it's a serious, straightforward idea.

"The thing," incidentally, is published by Tin Pan Alley's phenomenal young success, Howard Richmond. Richmond has been in the business less than a year, and already has published such hits as "Music, Music, Music," "Good-Night, Irene," and "Tze-Na, Tze-Na."

The Eldorado Extension club met at the home of Mrs. Cletis Allen with eleven members and three children present.

The meeting was called to order by the president Mrs. Cltis Allen. The devotional was read by Mrs. Sally Allen. Mrs. Cletis Allen then read a poem, "Lift Up Your Hearts."

Roll call was answered by saying something we are thankful for.

Letters from Mrs. Zimmerman were read by tne following: Mrs. Paul Gregory, Mrs. Lyn Edmondson and Mrs. Elmer Easter.

Mrs. James Pace gave a very interesting talk on "Our Friends Abroad," which was the lesson for the day.

Only 73 Labrador retrievers were registered with the British Kennel Club in 1906, in 1946 there were 3,000.

Attlee and Truman Have Similar Characteristics

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON.—There is a certain vein of similarity running through the lives of the two men who conferred this week regarding the course to be followed by the British and American governments toward future war or peace.

Prime Minister Attlee and President Truman both are left-of-center liberals, both have spent much of their lives in government, both have tried to work for the less-privileged sector of the British and American people.

Neither is considered a strong man in his own country, neither is man of much imagination, neither has the force, the flair, the genius of two others who conferred a great deal during the past decade—Franklin Roosevelt and Winston Churchill.

However, Clement Attlee, in his quiet way and backed by a powerful Labor party, has put across a schedule of socialist legislation which staid old Britons never dreamed could happen.

And while these reforms were passed in the face of vigorous Conservative opposition, nevertheless Attlee today has one important advantage over President Truman. He has the support of his opponent, Winston Churchill, when it comes to foreign policy.

Churchill Advised Trip

Furthermore, he has the support of most of the Conservative party. On the other hand, Truman of late has had the bitter, sometimes vitriolic opposition of a majority of Republican Senators in regard to almost every foreign-policy move he has made.

Attlee not only was careful to get Churchill's support before he left London, but Churchill even advised him on how to force Truman's hand regarding the trip.

What happened was that immediately after the Prime Minister heard of Truman's atom-bomb statement, he called on Churchill. Though political opponents, the two men served in the same coalition was cabinet together and are personal friends. At one time Attlee was Churchill's deputy prime minister, and handled British domestic affairs while Churchill was busy with the war.

With this background of friendship, it is not hard to understand why Attlee should have consulted Churchill or that Churchill advised him that he should take the trip to Washington. Furthermore, Churchill suggested that inasmuch as Truman might be opposed to the trip, Attlee should make a premature announcement of his plan—thus making it impossible for Truman to decline. This was why news of Attlee's plans prematurely leaked from London.

Churchill also promised Attlee that no effort would be made to overthrow the Labor government while he was away.

Attlee's Tory Background

Though Truman and Attlee have much in common politically, Attlee came from more conservative surroundings. His father was a Tory lawyer and president of the British equivalent to the American Bar Association. After studying at England's ritziest schools and being admitted to the bar, however, young Attlee suddenly became a social worker. At the age of 24 he went to work and lived in Limehouse, one of London's workmen's districts, and he has made his life with labor ever since.

Unlike Mr. Truman, who frequently lapses into Missouri mule-driver's language, Attlee's diction is cultured, sometimes poetic. In fact, he has written some widely quoted poems, one of them regarding his own workingmen's district, which reads:

"I hear the feet of many men who go their way . . .
Through streets that have no pity, and streets where men decay."

Repairs Own Pipes

Attlee is married to Violet Helen Millar, and for many years they lived with their four children in a modest house in a London suburb where Attlee did a little gardening and repaired his own pipes in his own carpenter's shop.

Unlike Truman, Attlee is a halting, none-too-forceful speaker. When he speaks impromptu, he hesitates and repeats. The President, on the other hand, is at his best when speaking off the cuff. In conferences, Attlee tries to win his point by charm and persuasion. The President sometimes gets impatient and petulant.

When Foreign Minister Molotov visited Truman a few days after Roosevelt's death while en route to the San Francisco conference, the new President spent 45 minutes bawling him out. There have been many occasions when Molotov deserved such a scolding. But at that time, when our Russian relations were on a relatively even keel, many diplomats felt that Truman touched off a new chapter of Soviet enmity.

In Europe, Attlee and his government are considered among the most vigorous of all opponents to communism, and it is sometimes predicted that, in case the Russians overran Europe, the Attlee cabinet would be the first to be lined up against the wall. This is because the British Labor party has more to fear from communism than any other ism—and vice versa.

Personally, Attlee has been among the toughest British fighters against both fascism and communism. He refused a post in the Chamberlain government because of Chamberlain's Munich appeasement, and he was among the first to go on record against the Japanese war lords, Mussolini's invasion of Ethiopia, and the Franco revolution in Spain.

Having opposed Chamberlain's appeasement policy toward Germany, he now finds himself in somewhat the same difficult position in regard to any appeasement of Moscow in the Far East.

Washington Pipeline

Gen. Bedell Smith, able ex-ambassador to Russia, told cabinet and congressional leaders last week that we can never hope to defeat Soviet Russia by manpower. "The only way to subdue the Russians while she continues to snipe at us through her satellites is by continued propaganda to get the truth behind the iron curtain—and where that fails, counter-revolutions in the small countries the Soviet has enslaved," declared General Smith. . . . There is a move among Democratic Senators to replace General MacArthur with General Marshall on the ground that the Chinese knew Marshall when he was ambassador to China. . . . More than 1,400 tons of food, arms and clothing have been dropped by airplane to our stranded Marines and infantry in northeast Korea. Despite this, Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, has informed the White House that he doesn't know how long the stranded troops will be able to hold out.

Your New Social Security

By Scott Webber

(Manager of the Sedalia Social Security Office)

Since I first wrote about household employees coming under Social Security next January, the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance and the Bureau of Internal Revenue have brought ot a small booklet, issued jointly and entitled "Do You Have a Maid?"

It is, I think, a model of clarity and brevity. It enables the household employer to determine quickly whether her worker comes under Social Security. It's back cover is an addressed and postage-free card to be torn off and mailed by those workers will be eligible for old-age and survivors insurance. In response to this card, the employer will receive the special form and the few instructions she will need for reporting her employees' wages and for remitting the social security tax.

As I have said, not all domestic employees will be eligible for social security; consequently not all household employers will need to mail in the post card contained in the booklet. Those who have a maid not more than one day a week will not make a report on that employee. Housewives who have a household worker on at least two different days a week, however, need the report form.

I say an average of two days weekly because that would would add up to at least 24 days in a three-month period. Any household employee who works for you at least 24 different days in a calendar quarter meets the days-of-work condition for social security. They need not be full days. For instance, if you have a maid one morning to do the laundry, and on the afternoon of another day i n the same week to clean house or get the dinner, she will have worked for you on two different days in that week. If that is her regular weekly schedule, she will have worked for you on at least 24 days in the calendar quarter.

Does the reference to "calendar quarter" puzzle you? Well, it won't once you've seen the little explanatory diagram in the "Do You Have A Maid?" booklet. What it means is simply this: The year is divided into four quarters. These are the three-month periods, January through March, April through June, July through September, and October through December. Each is a calendar quarter. Your maid must be employed by you on 24 different days in a calendar quarter, not just in any three consecutive months like March, April and May.

If you employ a maid on 24 different days in a calendar quarter, and pay her not less than $50. in cash wages for work in that quarter, she will come under social security and you will need to have the special report form that the post card from the "Do You Have A Maid?" booklet will bring you.

Just one thing more. The word "Maid" in the title to the booklet means more than it says. It means any kind of a household employee, male or female. A gardener or a governess, a chauffeur or a nursemaid will be eligible for old-age and survivors insurance protection beginning in January wherever their work for one employer meets the 24 days-$50. cash wages conditions of the new social security.

If you have a household employee who is covered, get your copy of "Do You Have A Maid?" It is available now at social security offices, internal revenue offices, and at post offices everywhere.

See No Austerity for U. S. Short of Long, Global War

By Bruce Biossat

Oddly enough, just when it looks like we'll be asked to produce more guns, some of our economists are telling us we still can have a lot of butter, too.

Not long ago we consoled ourselves with the thought that civilian cutbacks then in sight would, after all, turn the economic clock back only to 1949, a very good year.

A bigger war, if it should come, certainly would compel stiffer cutbacks. But again, that seems to be no cause for great gloom. There's no British-style austerity in view yet.

Arno Johnson, economist of the J. Walter Thompson advertising firm, recalls how it was at the start of World War II. The viewers with alarm said we'd have to chop civilian goods and services from the $72 billion level of 1940 to the $56 billion level of the lowest depression year.

But they were wrong. What really happened was this: The United States stepped up its production pace enough to turn out $100 billion in war goods in 1944 and $112 billion in civilian output as well.

Johnson thinks we can do it again. He says we can produce eight per cent more goods in 1951, sufficient for a full defense program and a five per cent hike in our living standards.

Even more optimistic than he, Leon Keyserling, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, told investment bankers in California the other day that defense activity will spur the U. S. economy to a 75 per cent increase in production by 1955. That comes to around 15 per cent a year.

Even if the forecasts are too hopeful, the record during World War II is strong promise that we won't slide to unbearable depths of sacrifice. That is, unless we become involved in a long drawn out global war with Russia.

There's another side to this guns-or-butter problem, too. It's quite plain from past war experience that we on the home front have never really had it tough. Until we have, we ought to be more understanding than we have been toward the people of Europe who have lived through two great wars.

We must hope that in the end they will choose to fight for freedom again if it is necessary. But we can't altogether blame them for being sick of short rations and bombs. Our criticisms would ring a little truer if we'd sampled austerity ourselves. So long as we have it fairly easy, we must exhibit extreme patience with others less fortunate.

Atomic Bomb Involves No Great Moral Issue

By Bruce Biossat

A prominent church organization declares that maybe it would be all right for us to use the atomic bomb if it is dropped on our cities first.

This statement unquestionably represents a decision taken after prolonged soul-searching by leading churchmen. But unfortunately it falls into the standard misconception that the atomic bomb involves a great moral issue.

It clearly does not. Except for the killing effects of radiation, the A-bomb differs from other bombs chiefly in the magnitude of its impact. The ways in which it kills are the ways all bombs k ill. It simply strikes down many more people at one time.

It is no more immoral to use an A-bomb than to use a pistol if the weapon is employed in pursuit of aggressive aims. That's the point: the real moral offense is aggression, for it is this crime which lets down the bars to violence.

Once we are in a war, it must be left to the discretion of our high command what weapons to use and when. That must be so whether we are fighting the Russians or the Chinese or anybody. There can be no rule that we are free to use the A-bomb against one enemy but not against another. Nor should we have to get anyone's permission to use it.

And we certainly should not have to wait until the enemy employs it, for by that time it might well be too late for us to drop it with the most telling effect.

Suppose for argument's sake that we should become embroiled in full-scale war with Red China. Our leaders should not yield to frantic calls that the A-bomb be promptly dumped on major Chinese cities. On the other hand, neither should they be deterred from using the weapon by heartfelt cries that it is "inhuman." So is a bullet.

Their decision should be made on the basis of the military realities they then confront. The A-bomb is costly. We don't have an unlimited store. Is the advantage to be gained through dropping it sufficient to offset these factors?

Can the same result be achieved more efficiently by other means? Or is the disposition of enemy resources such that the A-bomb's terrific concentration of force can be applied effectively?

These are the types of questions military men would ask themselves in any big war. A final decision likely would have to be made by the President as commander-in-chief. But the ingredients of that decision should be military—not moral.

13 Lucky Guys

by FRANK R. ADAMS

COPR. 1950 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Sgt. Eddie Engstrom's squad is wiped out by a bomb and the men realize they are dead when they find themselves back in Westwaygo, where all but Joe lived. So far only one living creature can see them—Eddie's dog Duke. But as they visit old haunts they hear drums.

XVI

SOMF of the pool players heard the drums, too. "Here comes the parade to meet that Navy big shot from Washington!"

"More flag waving baloney, huh?"

"Washington figures we'll work ourselves to death at the boatworks if somebody comes around every so often and tells us we're the second front and everything depends on us. They got the idea a little applesauce takes the place of raisin' our pay. Your shot, Mike."

The soldiers looked at one another with dawning distaste. "Let's get outside where the air's better," suggested Eddie. "They been usin' this place to store fish or cheese or something."

The American Legion Fife & Drum Corps headed the line of march. Behind them, patriotically on foot, was the mayor, the chief of police and eight uniformed patrolmen, all that could be spared for the moment. Then came a small detachment from the Coast Guard, followed by the definitely co-educational Westwaygo High School Band. Between each unit was considerable vacant space, doubtless in order to stretch the column to a respectable length.

In the not too brilliant illumination of the town's street-lighting system the procession looked a little forlorn. No great crowd lined the curbs. Maybe there had been too many parades.

The high school band took over from the fife and drum corps and burst forth raucously with "This Is the Army, Mr. Jones."

"There's my youngest sister," exclaimed Jake. "That's her playin' the big horn. When I left home she wasn't big enough to carry it."

Right behind the band marched a platoon of Marines, strangely enough in green battle dress.

"What the heck are those fightin' men doin' here?" queried Jake.

"There's been a big scrap somewhere," said Joe. Jake didn't get it. He hadn't met the second lieutenant who was in command. Joe and Eddie had.

Nine young men in flying clothes followed the Marines. One of them was the American-born Jap sergeant.

Eddie recognized him. To Joe he said, "The son of a gun was tellin' us the truth. He must be all right or that gang wouldn't let him march with 'em."

Joe looked at Eddie with approval. "I told you we learn faster since we got transferred to the inactive list. Looks to me like this is our parade, too."

"I was thinkin' something like that myself," Eddie agreed. To his men he said, "What are we waitin' for? Squad, fall in! Right face! Forward march!"

As they joined the column people began crossing the street breaking right through their formation. It didn't make any difference. The parade was over for the living but not for the dead.

THE representative of the United States Navy whom the mayor of Westwaygo and his cohorts, visible and otherwise, met at the railway station was pint-size Rear-Adml. Ralph H. Pearson. He had probably been a larger man during World War I but he had dried up some since his quarter-deck days and now he rattled around a little under his gold braid. In the disrespectful scuttle-butt of his more juvenile subordinates in the salt-water service he was known as "Barnacle Bill."

His duties were chiefly political and had to do with making clear to the uninformed public what the Navy was up to. He was ideal for the purpose.

The keys of the city were duly presented by the mayor and graciously accepted by the admiral. Then he was escorted to the New Westwaygo Hotel for dinner.

When the escort was dismissed Eddie abandoned his squad to whatever mischief its personnel might devise. He had another fish to fry.

WHEN he arrived at the bus terminal in the Arcade downtown Eddie found that it had changed very little since he had last seen it. Everything was slightly older and grimier but that was scarcely noticeable in a place which had been accumulating soft-coal soot for 20 years.

One comparatively new thing attracted his attention. It was a wooden upright panel fastened to the wall inside the waiting room. On it was a column of names which a heading proudly classified as "Employes of Westwaygo Bus Lines in the Service of the Nation." Eddie found his own name at the very top. The lettering was badly faded because he had been one of the first to go. Lower down a few names had recently been relettered in gold. Eddie thought absently that they would have to do his name over soon. The gold lettering looked better anyway.

Eddie did not openly admit to himself that he was looking for Margie Lou. She had said that she worked for the bus company and this would be about the time when there would be a change of shifts but Eddie pretended that he did not remember that.

All he was there for, he told himself, was to look over the place where he had once worked, like the captain going back to the hospital where he'd been on the staff. Maybe he would see some of the buses he had driven. There was one in particular, he had called it Old Ironsides, which had been his assignment for almost a year.

John 1:43—49; 4:6—42; Mark 13:11

THE FOUR STEPS IN HELPING OTHERS TO CHRIST

Perhaps you are hesitant in attempting to win others because you are not sure how to proceed. I dislike exceedingly the idea back of "selling religion"—it smacks of commercialism, and conceives of religion as a commodity. One might as well talk of "selling friendships," or "selling art appreciations." Nevertheless, there are some things we can learn from those who sell commodities. I have watched the men who go through the trains to sell various articles. Some get a lot of customers and others get no response. The one who makes a lot of sales usually does so because of two things: Firt, he acts as though the merchandise he has is of real importance. But he must not overdo it, or there will be an unfavorable reaction. It must be restrained importance. Second, he doesn't walk through the train with his head in the air—he looks at each passenger as if to give each one a personal invitation to buy. Important and personal—the two watchwords.

The sales manager of the National Cash Register company gives four steps in presenting a commodity. (1) What is it? (2) What will it do (for you)? (3) Who says so? (4) How can you get it?

In presenting the Christian way to people you will have to answer those four questions. First: What is it? Perhaps you will have to tell the person what it is not, in order to clear away misconceptions. It is not a mere set of beliefs to be believed, an organization to be joined, a rite or ceremony to be undergone—it may and does involve these, but it is much more than these. It is a personal relationship with God, which involves a change, gradual or sudden, from the kingdom of self to the Kingdom of God through the grace and power of Christ. The basis of life is shifted from self to God—you live in a state, not of self-reference, but of God-reference. God's will becomes supreme in your life. That will is interpreted to us in Christ. To be a Christian is to be a Christ-ian—to be committed, with all you have, to Christ in surrender and obedience.

O Christ, help me to help others to see Thee. They see so many things built up around Thee that they do not see Thee. Help me to help someone to get into personal relationships with Thee—to bend the knee to Thee and to Thee alone. They will lose themselves and then find themselves in Thee. For Thou and Thou alone art our very life. Amen.

The Doctor Says—

Painless Metabolism Test Aids Doctor in Making Diagnosis

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Suppose you are nervous and losing weight. One of the first things the doctor tells you is that you must have a metabolism test.

If you have never had one before you may be frightened and wonder what it is all about. You do not need to be afraid of the test; hundreds of thousands have it every year and it causes them no pain or discomfort whatever.

The test is simple enough for the patient. All you have to do after a good night's sleep is to go to the doctor's office or laboratory without eating any breakfast or drinking anything. Then after being weighed and measured you lie down on a cot and breathe normally through a tube.

What you breathe is ordinary air, you get as much of it as you need and there is no danger of suffocating as some nervous people seem to fear. That's all there is to it as far as you are concerned.

Behind the scenes there is a lot more being done. The air you have breathed in and out is measured. To calculate the result of the test your height and weight must also be known.

All these figures are put together in a formula and the final calculation tells whether you are burning up your food and tissues too fast, too slowly, or about right. When your doctor gives you the results he says your metabolism was plus something or other or minus some figure.

A figure of basal metabolism between minus 15 and 15 is not far from normal and as a general rule means that your body is burning its fuel about right.

If the metabolism is much more than plus 15 you may be using up food and tissues too fast and this may explain why you are nervous and losing weight. Most likely this is the result of a toxic goitre and you will need some medical or surgical treatment to bring you back to normal.

Extract May Help

Occasionally the metabolism is seriously below normal. This does not always mean that the thyroid gland is underactive and that you must take thyroid extract to make up the deficiency. But a low rate can mean this and sometimes people feel enormously better if they get the needed boost from thyroid extract.

Altogether the metabolism test has helped enormously in making a diagnosis and deciding how to treat those in whom the results were abnormal. Unlike some other valuable tests it is easy and painless for the patient!

Looking Backward

Forty Years Ago

Governor Herbert S. Hadley appointed John H. Bothwell, of Sedalia, as one of the delegates to the national rivers and harbors congress to be held in Washington.

The La Monte Poultry and Corn show opened with about 200 birds on exhibition which is expected to be increased to double that number when all entries arrive. The corn exhibit is an excellent one.

The Rev. W. F. Jones, district superintendent for the Methodist Episcopal church left for a visit to various churches in his charge to the south of Sedalia.

Ninty-five attended the noonday luncheon of the Sedalia Boosters club the event being presided over by William Courtney. Talks were made by George W. Barnett, Will J. Crawford, F. L. Ludemann and Dr. H. B Cole.

Put Eggnog Bowl Near Tree

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

At the foot of the Berkshires in a 190-year-old inn, there's the smoothest bowl of eggnog in this Christmas world.

Russell and Rosamond Chapin own the New Boston Inn. These two genial people regard serving good food to all who stop by as their duty to mankind. New Boston, Massachusetts, is at the juncture of U. S. routes 8 and 57 and the inn waits hospitably on a little hill overlooking the town.

Mrs. Chapin, a noted dramatic soprano, favors the European custom of serving eggnog on Christmas Eve. "In reverent remembrance of the holy event of the first Christmas, carols are sung," she said, "then presents are opened with father playing Santa Claus. Suddenly everyone gets hungry and at that moment the Christmas eggnog appears with little cookies and thinly sliced fruit cake."

Let's follow the New Boston Inn recipe just as Mrs. Chapin gave it to me.

"For an eggnog sufficient to serve ten people generously proceed as follows: Plan to make it in the morning because it must have time to chill thoroughly. Into a large earthenware bowl put the yolks of a dozen grade A fresh eggs. Set the whites temporarily to one side in a smaller bowl.

"To the yolks add slowly, bit by bit, while beating with a rotary beater, one cup of sifted granulated sugar and one level teaspoon of salt. When the yolks, sugar and salt are well blended discard the rotary beater in favor of a French Whip (wire whisk) and add slowly, while whisking, one pint of heavy cream and two and one half quarts of whole rich milk.

"Now comes the part where you must follow your own inclinations. You may flavor your eggnog with good vanilla extract alone or you can do as we do and add slowly, while whisking, one half pint of light rum and one half pint of brandy. Don't forget that a strong dash of good vanilla, too, seems to blend all the other flavors especially well.

"Lastly whip your egg whites into a firm granulated sugar and a dash of salt. Fold this into the eggnog and store the whole concoction away in the refrigerator in a covered bowl so none of the aroma can escape.

"Just before serving, give it one final whisk and pour it into a well chilled china or silver punch bowl. Add a top dusting of nutmeg and ladle it out to your delighted guests into punch glasses with handles."

A Great Breakfast Delight; Christmas Morn Chicken Pie

FRESH RED CRANBERRIES cooked with pineapple cubes and broken walnut meats brighten Christmas feast.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

When Rosamond Chapin was a little girl in Boston, there was always a mammoth chicken pie for Christmas breakfast.

Mrs. Chapin and her husband now own the New Boston Inn in the Berkshire foothills, where U. S. routes 8 and 57 meet. On Christmas, in their inn, founded in 1760, the hospitable Chapins will offer this lordly breakfast dish.

Christmas Morning Chicken Pie
(Serves 6-8)

Place two, full-breasted young fowl in a pot. Nearly cover with water and add a few sprigs of celery, a couple of carrots, peeled and sliced lengthways, and two or three sliced onions, salt and white pepper.

Bring to a slow boil, cover, and simmer slowly until tender, from 2½ to 3 hours. Turn birds several times during the cooking process. As the broth reduces add sufficient water to keep birds two-thirds covered.

Remove fowl from broth and cool on platter. Remove meat in large chunks and set aside. Return skin and bones to the broth and continue to simmer for another half hour; strain. The broth should now be reduced to about one-half of its original bulk and should contain (if the fowl are young) sufficient fat to thicken the sauce.

Next mix together slowly one cup of sifted flour with sufficient cold water to produce a smooth liquid. Add this slowly to the hot broth while stirring vigorously and cook until sauce is velvety. Add a pint of light cream and stir until well blended and the flour is cooked in. Be sure to stir frequently during this process, about 15 minutes, so the sauce will not burn.

Correct the seasoning to your own taste and remove from the fire. Separate the chicken into good sized pieces along its natural lines, using your fingers rather than a knife. Discard any skin, gristle or veins. Combine chicken pieces with the sauce.

Put chicken and sauce into a deep baked dish and fill to within a quarter inch of the top. A pie of the above size needs no cup to support the crust at the center as a larger pie does. Cover with your favorite pie crust, but be sure to make it sufficiently short.

If the pie is to be served immediately, the chicken need not be cooled before the crust is put on. But if it is to be baked the next morning, be sure the chicken is cool before adding the crust.

Cut slits in crust, and if you want to, add some fanciful pricking with a fork. Before baking pat your crust well with cold water.

BREAKAFST: Blended tomato and grapefruit juice, ready-to-eat cereal, parsley omelet, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, marmalade, coffee, milk.

Desert Rescues Are Practiced

TRIPOLI, Tripolitania— (AP) — British and American service personnel have been cooperating on air-desert rescue exercises in Africa's northern wastes. White panels were laid out in the desert to indicate a crashed plane. Then RAF and USAF planes began a search. Two ground parties were set up, one with eight light vehicles, the other with 10 heavier type vehicles for evacuation of personnel.

Communications were centered at the British-operated Castel Benito Airfield. The U. S. has a military air transport unit at near-Wheelus Field.

Plum Pudding Tops Dinner

PLUM PUDDING, dark and rich like fruit cake, stands high and lordly on the groaning Christmas board.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

In the rolling foothills of the Berkshires, there's an inn where Christmas dinner before the log fire ends in a flaming plum pudding, dark and rich.

Dark and rich like fruit cake—that's how Rosamond Chapin makes it. She and her husband have turned the 18th century New Boston Inn into a haven for hungry travelers.

"Now some people prefer other ways of treating the Christmas pudding. But we drench it with rum, set the rum afire and bring it in glorious with flame and pungent odors," she reports. "Then there is our sauce — a foamy, wonderful business made with eggs valiantly spiked with light rum and brandy."

For other plum pudding tastes, the hospitable Chapins have another recipe. It's a little lighter and is served with a hard sauce milder in disposition.

Plum Pudding
(14 to 16 servings)

Two cups sifted enriched flour, ⅓ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, ½ teaspoon cloves, ⅔ cup unsulphured molasses, 2 eggs, beaten, ¼ cup shortening, melted, ¼ cup milk, 1 cup chopped nuts, 2 cups mixed diced candied fruit, 2 cups raisins or currants.

Sift together first six ingredients. Add molasses, eggs, shortening and milk; mix thoroughly. Stir in nuts and fruit. Pour mixture into two greased, 1-quart molds. Cover with tight-fitting lid or metal foil. Steam 2½ hours. If desired, steam 1½ hours in individual molds (custard cups or gelatin molds). Serve hot with hard sauce, foamy sauce or whipped cream.

Molasses Hard Sauce
(Yield—1 cup)

One-third cup butter or fortified margarine, 2½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar, 2 tablespoons milk, 1 tablespoon unsulphured molasses, ½ teaspoon grated orange rind or 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter until fluffy. Add confectioners' sugar alternately with milk and molasses. Add orange rind or flavoring.

MENU

BREAKFAST: Tomato juice, scrambled eggs, corn muffins, butter or fortified margarine, jam, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Clam chowder, crackers, sardine sandwiches, lettuce and tomato sandwiches, baked apples, tea, milk.

DINNER: Vegetable soup, baked spaghetti and cheese, crusty French bread, butter or fortified margarine, large bowl of mixed green salad, French dressing, canned peaches, thin chocolate nut cookies, coffee, milk.

Christmas Cards Light the Way

AP Newsfeatures

YULETIDE GREETINGS — This year's Christmas cards are aglow with light. You will find street and hand lanterns, candles, tree lights, moonlight and even flashlights lighting the way to a happy Yuletide. Rudolph-the-Reindeer brightens up many a Christmas card with his shiny red nose. Some of the 1950 cards are whimsical, three-dimensional or have distinctly modern touch. Warm colors are used to reflect the spirit of the occasion.

Browning Chapel

LONDON—(AP)—Poetry lovers now can go to church amid relics of Robert Browning. A Browning chapel, furnished with his study table as an altar, his chair, and other items from the Veenetian home where he died, has just been dedicated at St. Marylebone parish church. The church parish includese Wimpole Street, where Browning lived and from where he courted Elizabeth Barrett.

The building of the chapel was upported by John Masefield, Britan's poet laureate, the Poeetry Society of Great Britain, and ten Browning societies in the United States.

10,000 Tulips In One Garden

NEW YORK — (AP) — Spring planting for 12,,000 families got under way in a single project recently when gardeners started setting out 10,000 tulip bulbs in Parkchester, the big apartment community of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Edgar A. Field in charge of Parkchester's gardens announced that he has ordered 50,000 pansy plants for planting next spring. The gardeners spent a week digging up masses of chrysanthemums, which had finished blooming, to make way for the tulip bulbs from Holland.

Citrus Fruits Belong On Christmas Tables

FESTIVE GRAPEFRUIT — Holi day table treat.

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

Largest of our fruit crop, and at its peak in quality right now, citrus fruit can be used to advantage on holiday tables and can also be made into attractive gifts. Grapefruit halves always appeal to me as a starter for a festive dinner because they're easy to prepare and are a refreshing tangy beginning for a big meal. But do give the grapefruit halves a Christmas toucn:

Festive Grapefruit Halves

Cut grapefruit in half. Cut around each section, loosening the fruit from membrane. Do not cut around entire outer edge of fruit. Cut slice of cranberry jelly with small sharp knife into small Christmas tree; place in center of grapefruit half and garnish with silver balls. Cut thin slice of citron into tiny leaves. Arrange with cinnamon candies around the center of another grapefruit half to resemble a Christmas wreath.

For a delightful snack, or for dessert when some of the family and guests eschew the heavier puddings and pies, serve tangerines this way:

Tangerine Poinsettias

Cut tangerine peel into six sections; peel down one-half of the way but do not remove. Cut sections of peel with scissors into fine slivers. Spread sections apart sunburst-fashion; fill centers with semi-sweet chocolate or salted nuts.

Little jars of jelly make excellent gifts for friends who happen by during the holidays. Here is a delightful one to tuck under the Christmas tree:

Tangerine Jelly

Ingredients: 3 cups canned sweetened tangerine juice, 1 box powdered fruit pectin, 3½ cups sugar.

Method: Put tangerine juice in large saucepan. Place over high heat, add pectin, and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim, pour quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once. Makes about 7 six-ounce glasses.

Chocolate Cake is a Real Luxury

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Our friend Rosamond Chapin served us the smoothest, richest and most perfect all chocolate cakes we ever ate at any inn or at any home, our own included.

So we're returning during Christmas week to the New Boston Inn, which she and Russell Chapin own. It's at the foot of the Berkshires where U. S. routes 8 and 57 meet. And do those gracious Chapins serve food!

The inn was founded in 1760, but this cake was founded with Mrs. Chapin. She hastened to give us her recipe to pass along to our friends, with her hopes for their happy Christmas.

"This is one of the best and simplest I have ever discovered and one of the most favored cakes at the Inn," she said. Melt 4 squares of unsweetened chocolate with ¼ cup of butter in a saucepan over slow heat while stirring constantly to prevent scorching. When butter and chocolate are well blended, remove from fire and add 1⅓ cups of sugar and two whole eggs and beat until smooth.

"Next add alternately 1⅓ cups of milk, and 1 cup of well-sifted self-rising cake flour. If you use all-purpose flour, use only a scant cup and sift it several times with 2 teaspoons of baking powder. Lastly add 1 tablespoon of good vanilla extract.

"This cake may be cooked as layer cake, cup cakes or in a sheet. Grease your pans well before filling and cook at moderate heat (350 deg. F.) as chocolate burns easily."

Here is Mrs. Chapin's favorite frosting for this cake:

Chocolate-Mocha-Butter Frosting

Sift 2 cups of confectioners' sugar with ⅔ cup of unsweetened cocoa and ½ teaspoon salt into a bowl. Add a lump of soft butter the size of an egg and sufficient hot strong coffee to arrive at the proper consistency to spread.

Proceed cautiously with the coffee, however, as it melts the sugar very fast. Add a tablespoon of pure vanilla extract and beat the frosting until perfectly smooth and blended. Chopped pecans can be sprinkled over this frosting after it is on the cake.

For delicious chocolate sauce use the above frosting recipe only with the addition of a little more coffee.

MENU

BREAKFAST: Grapefruit, oatmeal, crisp bacon, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Creamed tuna fish and hard-cooked eggs, steamed rice, enriched crusty bread, fruit bowl, tea, milk.

DINNER: Ham and potato casserole, canned peas, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, cabbage and celery salad, steamed marmalade pudding, foamy sauce, coffee, milk.

Holiday Party Frocks For Christmas Belles

DANCING SCHOOL STYLES—These charming party dresses come in jewel-toned velveteen, with trimming of Alencon lace or button-on pique flowers. Celeste design.

By Dorothy Roe
Associated Press Fashion Editor

The sure way to please a little girl — or a big one — at Christmas time, is to give her something she can wear.

To most junior glamor girls, it wouldn't seem like Christmas without a new party dress. And this season there's a dazzling assortment from which to choose.

What could be more Christmas-y, for instance, than a ruby red velveteen party dress with a collar of imported lace — or one in emerald green with button-on collar of white pique flowers?

A special group of story-book dresses also will be available in shops throughout the country in time for Christmas. These are charming little-girl styles in prints which reproduce exactly the illustrations of the famous Kate Greenaway books, best sellers on the junior lists when grandma was a girl.

If your child is well supplied with party clothes, you might investigate some of the gay separates that are being turned out for the pigtail crowd—handsome dyed-to-match sweaters and skirts blazers in flannel, tweed or corduroy, authentic tartan plaid skirts and jackets, cute blouses as carefully styled as Mom's.

At any rate, if you want to be a successful Santa, give her something she can wear.

Rubber Planters In a Protest

KUALA LUMPUR—(AP)—Many rubber planters in Malaya say they'll sell out and leave the country if the federal government carries through a proposed boost in income taxes. That is the report of the magazine "The Planter."

Referring to a falling off of rubber sales to the United States the publication said:

"America has reopened many of her synthetic plants and, even were the Korean war finished tomorrow, she is unlikely to close them for a long time."

Name Missouri 4-H'er to Compete for National Honors in Recreation

THE National 4-H Recreation and Rural Arts program provides boys and girls with an opportunity to make new friends, have fun, learn new skills, share talent, and become leaders. It also provides a medium for community participation in sports, dancing, dramatics, singing, arts and crafts, and other activities.

Anna Lee Harvey

Anna Lee Harvey, 21, of Sedalia was selected by the State Club Office for outstanding recreational leadership and achievement. Learning that all work and no play will make anyone dull, she charted a carefully planned course to bring recreation into the lives of fellow club members as well as to grown-ups in the community. Anna has been club recreation leader four successive years. During that time she has outlined a varied and interesting program. Included in it were square dancing, music appreciation, softball, roller skating, swimming and boating. Holiday parties are always enjoyed by members, leaders and parents alike. This year at 4-H Camp Anna helped teach 100 boys and girls to etch glass and work with lustro-lace.

Her record will be judged for national honors, which includes a trip to the 1950 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, provided by the United States Rubber Company.

Annual awards of $25 were given to 16 counties on their overall recreational program as well as the records of their local 4-H Clubs. The award is used to buy recreational equipment.

This activity is conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agricultura College and USDA cooperating.

Begin Yuletide Feast With Oyster Bisque

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

A roaring fire, holly at the windows, and a delicious Christmas dinner—that's the way it's done at the New Boston Inn in the rolling Berkshire foothills.

Dinner near the burning logs begins with a fresh fruit cup. Then follow in spacious succession Mrs. Chapin's own oyster bisque, roast stuffed goose, chestnut puree, brown wild rice, creamed white onions, buttered green beans, red cabbage cooked with shredded onions, apple butter, red wine and brown sugar, Waldorf salad, celery, carrot sticks, olives and radishes, steamed dark plum pudding brought in aflame with a foamy rum sauce.

The centerpiece is a bowl of bright red apples, red grapes and clusters of raisins studded and lots of nuts. That gets eaten along with pineapple cheese and crackers and finally waferthin mints. Then coffee and good will to men.

Mrs. Chapin's Oyster Bisque
(Serves 6-8)

Take 1 pint of freshly opened oysters and examine carefully for any bits of clinging shell. Cut these into small pieces and simmer together with their liquor in 4 generous tablespoons of butter. Use a deep saucepan for this, one large enough to contain finished soup.

Season oysters while simmering, to your taste with garlic salt, salt, white pepper and a dash of curry powder. When oysters are sufficiently cooked, generally in about 5 minutes, add 4 tablespoons of flour and blend in carefully using the back of a wooden spoon.

Now add very slowly at first, while stirring constantly, 1½ quarts milk which has been heated together with 1 pint of light cream. Be sure this milk and cream mixture never boils, either before or after it is added to the soup. Stir all together well, cook slowly until thickened and now transfer your soup to a big double boiler and continue to simmer at slow heat until you are ready to serve.

Just before serving correct the seasoning and add ½ cup of good sherry if desired. Do not add the wine until you are ready to serve your soup or it may curdle. The soup may be served with the oysters in, or strained out. Garnish each portion with a spoonful of salted whipped cream decorated with paprika and minced parsley.

MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, ready-to-eat cereal, link pork sausage, griddle cakes, butter or fortified margarine, syrup or honey, coffee, milk.

CHRISTMAS DINNER: Oyster bisque, roast turkey, chestnut stuffing, gravy, cranberry sauce, surprise baked potatoes, Brussels sprouts, creamed onions, Parkerhouse rolls, celery, ripe and green olives, cider, watercress and grapefruit salad, French dressing, peppermint candy ice cream, chocolate cake, nuts, raisins, mints, coffee, milk.

SUPPER: Tomato soup in cups crackers, cold sliced turkey, hot biscuits, butter or fortified margarine, currant jelly, vegetable salad, thinly sliced fruit cake, tea, milk.

Serve Banana Scallops for Christmas

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

On the day after Christmas at the New Boston Inn, Rosamond Chapin serves broiled steak or a double lamb chop with banana scallops. "That's a surprise change from goose or turkey. And those scallops—well, you just try them," she urged.

We did. The Chapins, Russell and Rosamond wrote out the recipe hoping all our readers will be as happy about the scallops as we were.

Banana Scallops

Slice firm, ripe bananas into rounds the size of a small scallop. Dip these first into egg beaten with small amount of water and a pinch of salt. Roll in very fine sifted bread crumbs made from oven-dried stale bread, crushed with a rolling pin and put through a sieve.

Never use cracker crumbs. Shake excess crumbs from the scallops and fry in a wire basket in deep hot fat for a few minutes—or until nicely browned. Drain on brown paper and serve immediately.

At their inn in New Boston, Massachusetts, they serve the banana scallops with a 2-inch-thick kidney lamb chop, broiled under a hot fire, set on a piece of crisp buttered toast and topped with a grilled tomato and a mushroom cap.

Mrs. Chapin, serves red cabbage with the Christmas goose. "It goes wonderfully also with baked ham steak and candied yams," she said. Here's her recipe:

Red Cabbage

Start to prepare red cabbage a couple of hours before your meal. Into a sizeable saucepan put ¼ cup of butter and simmer in this a couple of finely shredded onions until soft but not brown. Then add about 4 cups of finely shredded red cabbage and 1 cup of sliced tart apples.

Add ½ cup of red wine or vinegar and ½ cup of light brown sugar—also salt, pepper and garlic salt. Add just enough water, about 1 cup, to keep cabbage from burning at the start. Stir frequent and cook covered over low heat until soft. The flavor of the cabbage blends especially well with ham as well as goose.

MENU

BREAKFAST: Stewed prunes, oatmeal, crisp bacon, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Turkey and barley soup, whole wheat bread, butter or fortified margarine, canned peach halves stuffed with cottage cheese and finely chopped peanuts, tea, milk.

DINNER: Ham steak baked in milk, candied yams, red cabbage, rye bread, butter or fortified margarine, carrot sticks, apple pie, cheese, coffee, milk.
